

Moral Education- Need of Today's Education System

Bhagyashree P. Chelani
Asst. Professor PIGCE
Nagpur, Maharashtra, India

Jayesh R. Rathi
Research Scholar
Yawatmal, Maharashtra, India

Abstract:- In the recent days of digitalization and technology innovation, where students in their college life are only taught about earning more and more to live better life with comfort. In India various technical institutes with good infrastructure having all modern education facilities are even not able to make a student of full success. Success can't determine by how much money and resources one can procure after getting technical education. The whole growth of one's life solely depends upon the ethics, manners and his morality. This paper deals with the study of importance of implementing moral education in all colleges of India with performing various activities and workshops at national level.

Keywords:- College, Moral education.

I. INTRODUCTION

Nowadays, everyone wants to become a successful businessman, engineer, doctor, lawyer and the list goes on and on with each profession respectively. But how many of those would aspire to be a good human being with ambitions to fulfill others' happiness and get the satisfaction out of it without any returns? Not many, I suppose. Technical education is what people get to increase knowledge about new innovations, development and learn to enhance all those by various means. This all higher education everyone seeks to get sweet fruits of life but moral education is the root of that tree from where we can get all those fruits. And those who have moral, ethics, and discipline, surely would have made a great impact on others lives as well as in the society.

II. THE IMPORTANCE AND URGENCY OF THE COLLEGE MORAL EDUCATION WORK

Education's main purpose is to serve the knowledge with overall development i.e. to be literate with good thinking ability, skill development, improve life style to make him a good human being. But read, learn and write is what most of us were/are performing at schools/college. This can't be contributing for the overall development of the society. One must possess a morality to make his life full of ethics and values. As the higher education/ professional studies leads to better career with good package which is sufficient to live comfort life with all amenities. But truly said, this all is incomplete if it is not contributed for making other people happy. Nowadays, the cases of crime, murder, conspiracy, brutality and rape are increasing at a very fast rate even in educated society. The root cause of these is not the greed but a need of moral education. We must empower today's youth with moral education along with technical skills where they were taught about India's culture, Tradition, respect and care of elders, our ancient India's treatment. The knowledge of all these principles, surely reduce the crime rate, make people's thinking in a better way, create safe and healthy environment for woman which leads to the overall growth of our society.

III. STEPS INVOLVED TO EMPOWER COLLEGE STUDENTS/ YOUTH WITH MORAL EDUCATION

For making any structure strong and durable, its foundation should be strong. And as we know that a small and thin wood sticks are more capable to fire than a bigger one, the same is people who are seeking education. We must try to make them aware about good and bad, right and wrong at primary level of education as far as possible but if not possible we must sow a seeds of ethics and moral values in one's student life. This education not just merely taught but should implement in life.

College staff and management should take initiative for regular classes and add a compulsory subject of 'MORAL EDUCATION' in their timetable. Teaching should be done in simpler way with innovative ideas yet effective one. Morals are those which differentiate good and bad and can leads to live happy, long and stress free life. Also, this is important to ensure that children have perceived the morals and surely inculcate in their life. Various colleges should also try to make people from various old age home, public sectors, orphanage, private companies participate in various activities. Following steps should be taken-

- Combination of the theory and the practice- As it says 'practice makes man perfect', so theory classes should accomplices with practice.
- Combination of in-class with after-class- Students should perform a task to meet individual from different societies, collect the data and to solve the issue in relation to give moral education.
- Combination of strict demands with passionate love- To start any certain work one must have strong will and dedication. The students must be in love with performing social tasks, help needy with good enthusiasm.
- Combination of words and deeds- Whether teachers in the college belong to management cadres or ideological and political staff, they all should be models in students' heart, and to influence student, teachers' words and deeds are very important.

IV. CONCLUSION

Following points were noted in reference to the urgency and need to implement moral education.

- Students from higher technical colleges are already given the moral education as a compulsory subject. This must be adopted in all colleges affiliated to technical or non-technical universities in India.
- Various workshops, seminars, gatherings, social events must be organized and that should be considered as a mandatory project in their college.
- NGOs and other social institutes should also be included in the mission to make people aware about the importance of learning moral education and implementing it in day to day life.
- Government should grant the fund for all such activities so that not only students but also the orphanage students and people from old age home can learn and participate in various periodic classes.
- Students should visit and examine the areas where crime rates are increasing along with their root cause. This study is helpful in determining the parameters which should be considered for focusing as a serious issue and requires a immediate attention.

REFERENCES

- [1] Yu, Liqun. (2007). The Students' Morality Problems of Current University and Countermeasures. China Metallurgical Education. No.1.
- [2] 2. Zhang, Jian. (2003). On the Moral Construction of College Students in the New Era. Higher Education Forum. No.6.
- [3] 3. Chen, Yungui. (2002). Research of the Actual Effect of Moral Education for College Students. Journal of West Anhui University. No.6.